

High Holiday International Courtesy Seating Request

For Reciprocity Between Congregations Outside of North America

Attending High Holiday Services Away from Home

International: Your congregation, as a member of the Union for Reform Judaism, is also part of the international World Union for Progressive Judaism (WUPJ). WUPJ will endeavor to make a connection for those who will be traveling internationally and would like to join with an international Progressive/Reform congregation for Rosh HaShanah and/or Yom Kippur. Please know that in many instances, the WUPJ is able to succeed in making these connections; however, each instance is subject to the traditions of individual synagogues' affiliation protocol, which can differ significantly outside of North America. In many cases even members of communities are charged additional fees for the High Holidays, so we cannot guarantee free courtesy seating, and you may be asked for a set contribution or fee based upon the number of seats you require. For further international direction, contact Shira Kestenbaum (SKestenbaum@wupj.org) in WUPJ's New York office, or Rabbi Joel Oseran (JOseran@wupj.org.il) in Jerusalem.
